CMS Crawler is closed

After almost 10 years, first as an internal project at Infobyte and later in his own company Viderem, it has become time to close CMS Crawler. In a world where most people use one of the great open source tools for their websites, it has become less and less interesting to map out which tools are used.

It has been a really fun journey that started with internal frustration on Infobyte that no one could account for who used the publishing tool Lemoon so that educations could be sold effectively. To find out, the engine was created which, until the last day, mapped which publishing tool was used. From having checked a single tool in Sweden to thousands of tools globally.

Viderem will continue its journey in other ways and we will be seen and heard for sure in some way.

Thank you for this time!
